Artist Talk

by

Baptist Coelho

In conversation with

Premjish

Baptist Coelho articulates unspoken stories to conjure meaning out of psychological and physical disruptions caused by war and conflict. Through a process of fact-finding and engagement with military and civilian personnel, he investigates issues surrounding conflict, war (and war museums), conscription, emotion, heroism, fear and gender, and explores their complex interconnections. In 2006, Coelho received his Masters of Arts from Birmingham Institute of Art & Design, UK. Baptist was awarded the Sovereign Asian Art Prize, Hong Kong (2016); amongst others. He has exhibited worldwide in museums, galleries and film screenings. He has participated in various artist residencies; conducted workshops, artist talks and panel discussions in India and abroad. The artist lives and works in Mumbai.

Premjish is a Curator, Writer and Translator based in Delhi. His translations have appeared in Indian Literature published by Sahitya Akademi. He has initiated the independent curatorial platform called Future Collaborations aiming at theoretically and politically informed curation. He has recently curated the exhibition 'Workers and Farmers: The Panorama of Resistance (Prelude)' as part of the second edition of Future Collaborations at Khoj International Artist's Association, Delhi on 24 May, 2018. In August, 2017 he curated "A Preview to Desolation" at Italian Cultural Center.
